In order to stimulate your imagination and exercise your critical thinking skills, I encourage you to approach reading as a pleasure and means for personal growth, rather than a purely academic obligation. I encourage you to read online news and opinion columns in The Guardian/New York Times/Washington Post/The Independent, as well as English short stories, novels and nonfiction whenever you can, and don't be afraid to explore poetry when you have a free moment! Words have always had the power to move and shape humanity.

We will prepare Shakespeare's Julius Caesar (background and context) during the October holidays, so please buy the play in advance.

Robert Frost, The Collected Poems Vintage Classics

ISBN:9780099583097

We will only be studying the following nominated poems :

The silken tent

Acquainted with the night

Design

Stopping by woods on a snowy evening

Birches

Out, out

Fire and ice

Mending wall

The road not taken

The death of the hired man

Nothing gold can stay

After apple picking

The tuft of flowers

Neither out too far nor in too deep

The lovely shall be choosers

The butterfly: an elegy

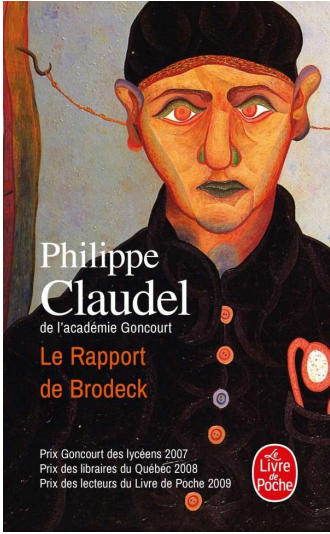

The gift outright

The fear

Home burial

The oven bird

Please start working on your poetry presentations during the holidays. Ensure that you read up on the poet (<https://www.robertfrost.org/biography.jsp>) in order to better understand the social and historical background.
